

Marc Newson: original works of art in domestic appliances

The latest line of Smeg's cooking appliances created by the renowned Australian designer Marc Newson clearly reflects his unmistakable style. It is expressed in the soft lines of the products and their user friendly features. The range is characterized by the use of bold colours combined with stainless steel or glass.

The Newson range gas hobs are available in bright shades of blue, yellow and green to match the respective ovens. They are made with soft touch glass that has been given anti-scratch treatment and are also finger-print proof. These 75 cm wide hobs come with cast iron pan stands and are equipped with 5 vertical flame burners as well as brass knobs.
